

Table of Contents

Preface	V
---------------	---

Helmut KOZIOL

Introductory Remarks	3
I. The Purpose of this Research	3
II. The Different Starting Points	4
A. The continental European legal systems	4
B. Common law	6
C. Chinese law	8
III. Multitude of Aims	9
A. Really independent different tasks?	9
B. Are all tasks relevant for all areas of liability law?	10
C. The relationship between the different aims of tort law	11
IV. The Tasks of Tort Law and the Tasks of Neighbouring Areas	11

LIU Jinrui • CUI Jianyuan

The Compensatory Function of Tort Liability Law	13
I. Compensatory Function is the Primary Function of Tort Liability Law	13
II. The Intensive Provisions of the Chinese Tort Liability Law as Regards the Compensatory Function	15
A. The protection of the tort liability law extends from rights to certain interests	15
B. Tort liability law provides complementary liability	16
C. Tort liability law provides equitable liability	16
D. The pluralistic relief system for motor vehicle traffic accidents	17
E. The extension of the definition of damage in product liability	19

F.	The denial of the requirement of illegality in liability for environmental pollution	20
G.	Liability for ultra-hazardous activities returns to strict liability	21
III.	The Methods of Quantifying Damage and Compensatory Function	23
IV.	Conclusion	25

Alessandro P SCARSO

	The Concept of ‘Compensation’ in European Tort Law	27
I.	Principle of Full Compensation	27
II.	Restrictions to the Scope of Application of the Principle of Full Compensation	30
III.	Comprehensive Compensation v its Application in Practice	35
IV.	The Reduction of the Duty to Compensate	37
V.	Comprehensive Compensation v Flexible System	40

GUO Mingrui • BI Xiaoxiao

	The Main Function of Tort Liability Law of the People’s Republic of China: To Prevent, to Deter and to Punish Tortious Conduct	43
--	---	-----------

Ernst KARNER

	Prevention, Deterrence, Punishment	51
I.	Starting Point – The Continental European Approach	51
II.	Compensation, Prevention and Deterrence	53
A.	Compensation and prevention	53
B.	Prevention and fault based liability	54
C.	Prevention and strict liability	54
III.	Punitive Damages	56
A.	The traditional continental European standpoint	56
B.	The Anglo-American standpoint and its influence	56
1.	Influence in China	58

2. Influence in Europe?	58
a. European level	58
b. Germany	59

WANG Cheng

An Economic Analysis of Tort Law's Aims and Functions	61
I. China's Current Statute	61
II. The Basic Goal of Tort Law	64
III. The Basic Problems of Tort Law	65
IV. The Justification for Tort Liability	67
V. The Basic Scope of Tort Law	69
VI. The Justification for Tort Liability and the Basic Scope of Tort Law	69
VII. The Basic Framework for Economic Analysis	70
VIII. The Application of the Basic Analysis Framework	73
IX. The Basic Scope of Tort Law, the Methods of Assuming Tort Liability, the Function and the Aim of Tort Law	74
X. A Case Example	75
XI. Conclusion	77

Michael FAURE

Economic Optimization of Tort Law	79
I. Introduction	79
II. Economic Goals of Tort Law: A Formal Approach	81
A. Reducing the costs of accidents: Calabresi	81
B. Prevention through deterrence	85
III. Limits of the Deterrence Perspective	88
A. Limited information and bounded rationality	88
B. Influence of behavioural law and economics?	89
C. Nuances in law and economics	91
D. Importance of non-legal motives	92
E. Critics from CLS and tort lawyers	93
F. Complications through other legal instruments	94
G. Weak empirical evidence	95
IV. A Critique of the Compensation Perspective	97
A. Tort law not structured to compensate	97
B. Tort law compensates poorly and costly	99

C.	Cheaper and better alternatives	100
D.	Reconciliation	103
V.	Strict Liability versus Negligence	104
VI.	Non-Pecuniary Losses: Deterrence or Compensation	106
VII.	Punitive Damages	108
VIII.	Concluding Remarks	110

ZHANG Pinghua • BI Xiaoxiao

A Significant Aim of the Tort Liability Law of the People’s Republic of China:

	To Promote Social Harmony and Stability	115
I.	The Legal Importance of ‘Promoting Social Harmony and Stability’	116
A.	Public aims of tort liability law	116
B.	Pursuit of social order by tort liability law	117
C.	Tort law’s principle	118
II.	‘To Promote Social Harmony and Stability’ and the Transition of Chinese Tort Liability Law	119
A.	Social standard of law	119
B.	Shaping social order	120
C.	The collectivization of liability	120
1.	The torts of multiple victims	121
2.	The torts of multiple tortfeasors	121
D.	Comprehensive effects of liability	122
III.	‘To Promote Social Harmony and Stability’ and Tort Liability Attribution	124
A.	The constitution of tort liability	124
1.	Damage	124
2.	Wrongfulness of the act	125
3.	Fault	125
4.	Causation – with the reinforcing reason of application of fair liability	127
B.	The effects of liability	128
1.	Injunctive relief	128
2.	Compensation	128
3.	Liability insurance	130
IV.	The Methods and the Drawbacks of the Application of ‘Promoting Social Harmony and Stability’	131

A. The application methods of ‘promoting social harmony and stability’	131
1. Indirect application	131
2. Purpose interpretation	132
3. Balance of interests	133
B. The drawbacks of the application of ‘promoting social harmony and stability’	134
1. Trials which lack independence	135
2. Wrong judgment	135
3. Inadequate reasoning	136

Ken OLIPHANT

Promoting Social Harmony and Stability

as an Aim of Tort Law	139
I. Introduction	139
II. On the Aims of Tort Law in General	141
A. General justifying aims	142
B. Justifying the distribution of tortious liability	142
C. Conditions for the imposition of tortious liability	143
III. On the Promotion of Social Harmony and Stability in Particular	143
IV. Implications	147
A. Implications regarding the imposition of liability	147
B. Implications regarding remedies	148
C. Implications regarding out-of-court settlement	150

CAO Xianfeng

Harmony but not Uniformity: Comparative Analysis of the Functions of Tort Law and Other Relevant Laws

151
I. Comparative Analysis of Functions of Tort Law and Criminal Law of PRC	152
II. Comparative Analysis of Functions of Tort Liability Law and Insurance Law	159
III. Comparative Analysis of Functions of Tort Liability Law and Social Security Law	165
IV. Postscript	173

Monika HINTEREGGER

Aims of Neighbouring Areas to Tort Law 175

I. Introduction 175

II. Public Law Instruments for the Compensation of Harm 176

 A. General remarks 176

 B. Social security systems 177

 C. Public compensation funds 179

III. Private Insurance 180

IV. Specific Private Law Claims for the Protection of Rights 183

 A. Property rights 183

 1. General remarks 183

 2. Civil law countries 183

 3. English law 187

 B. Personality rights 189

V. Summary 191

Helmut KOZIOL

Conclusion 193

I. General Remarks 193

II. Compensation 194

III. Prevention, Deterrence and Punishment 195

IV. Economic Optimization 198

V. Promotion of Social Harmony and Stability 205

VI. Aims of Neighbouring Areas to Tort Law 209

VII. Summing Up 210

List of Authors 215

Publications 219